DEMOCRATS FOR SMITH

Dry New England State Appears to Favor Wet New York Governor

Washington—Although it is a long time between now and election day,
the straw vote method of ascertaining popular sentiment is beginning to show some interesting results.

In rock-ribbed Republican Vermont,
the voters have, of course, a deep-seated faith in President Coolidge and the poll taken by the Burlington Free Press shows that the I-do-not-choose-to-run statement did not affect their desires. For the rank and file of the voters want to draft Mr. Coolidge.

Fully 1512 voted to draft Mr. Coolidge as against 411 opposed. On the question of what candidate would be preferred if Mr. Coolidge did not accept the nomination, Herbert Hoover received 895 first choice votes and 441 as second choice.

HOOVER STRENGTH SURPRISE
This is regarded in Washington as very significant, for it had not been supposed here that Mr. Hoover had any considerable strength in New England. It is natural to find it.
Mr. Hughes receiving 659 votes as first choice and 429 as second choice as he carried Vermont without difficulty in 1916. Charles G. Dawes was third with 236 first choice votes and 234 second.
Speaker Longworth polled 51 first choice votes and 115 second choice votes.
Senator Borah had 58 first choice and 61 second choice and Governor Lowden
of Illinois, was at the bottom of the list with 30 first choice and 70 second choice.

It is significant, also, that the Democrats of Vermont voted almost uniformly for Al Smith, who received 200 out of the 229 votes cast by the Democrats—and Vermont is far from being considered a wet state. Other Democrats, in the order of their choice
were Senator Reed, 11, first choice, 41
second; and scattered votes for Governor Ritchie, of Maryland and Governor Donahoe, of Ohio.

The poll was not printed in the Free Press itself, but every subscriber received a printed postcard so there was no chance of repetition and a certified public accountant certified the accuracy of the count.

CANNON APPOINTED COMMISSION Scribe

Appleton Man Given Second Term as Secretary of Claimants' Group

O. D. Cannon, Appleton, was appointed secretary of the conference claimants commission for a second term of one year by the Wisconsin conference of the Methodist Episcopal church in its session Saturday at the First Methodist church. The recommendation for his appointment was made by the commission.

The Wisconsin conference was assessed $11,237.50 to pay claims of the commission the coming year, following the annual report of the board of stewards. The assessment last year was in excess of that amount, being $14,762.32. Cash receipts the past year were $52,958.42 and the total receipts $88,895.15. A balance of $4,896.35 was left in the treasury.

Conference claimants will be paid $25 a year for each effective year of their service in 1927 and 1-25, whereas only $24 was paid last year. It was announced. Claims on conference funds were $59,160. Annuitants paid were $50,437.50. Other expenditures were necessary funds, board expenses, and the German Methodist Episcopal conference claim for use of the church building owned by them in Oshkosh by the Tenth-24th Methodist church.

The amount required to pay the full legal claim and necessary claims
this year will be $58,160.

of theology in its fifth session held
at Lawrence college this year, according to the report made by the Rev.

the Wisconsin conference of the Methodist Episcopal church Saturday
at the First Methodist church.

FLYING MACHINES BUILT LIKE BIRDS TO RECEIVE TRIALS

New York—(P)—The hiatus in trans-oceanic flying Monday permitted occupancy of the aviation spotlight by two new types of aircraft that operate without fuel-
burning motors and upon the principle of the flight of birds.
Lehman Wilde, 60, of Brooklyn,
set Monday for his first test flight
in his 275 pound "Ornithopter," which has found wings that flap in addition to two other wings of the conventional airplane type. Motivative power is supplied by pedals
and levers.

Definite specifications were lacking on the flying machine being built by George R. White of Stony Brook, L. I., at Cocoa, Fla., but investigators reported the existence of a contraption without a motor, with wings like those of a bird, and the prediction by White
that his creation will "revolutionize flying."

APPLETON DISTRICT SPEAKER DEPLORES DISREGARD FOR LAW

"But if God is for us who can be against us?" G. Kenneth Mac Innis, Milwaukee, asked after he had deplored the lawlessness in the country
today, when he made a report of the temperance commission of the Wisconsin conference of the Methodist Episcopal church at its eighty first session at the First Methodist church
here Saturday afternoon.

The conference passed a recommendation that the department of justice of the state be asked to interfere with flagrant violations of the law in the transportation of motion pictures. He referred specifically to the production of the Dempsey-Tunney fight, which he said was not fit
for presentation.

Dr. Mac Innis stated his appreciation of the aggressive policy of prohibition workers in the state. He spoke of the loss to the work by the death of Wayne B. Wheeler.

Flower Cars Busy On Last Trip Of Season

The pains and sufferings of more than 100 patients at St. Elizabeth hospital were made lighter Saturday
when the Post-Crescent flower cars collected about 120 bouquets of late summer flowers from residents in Appleton. This was the last trip to be made this season. There are still some flowers in bloom but not enough to keep the patients at the hospital supplied. The flower cars made 64

MRS. SNYDER AND GRAY FOUND SANE
Condemned Murderers Appear Before Commission—
Mother Visits Gray

New York—(P)—Mrs. Ruth Snyder,
and Henry Judd Gray have been found sane in examinations conducted at Sing Sing by the state lunacy commission.

Prison attaches said that Mrs. Snyder received members of the lunacy
commission very cordially and that she impressed them as realizing
"what her situation is all about." The alienists found Gray's mind unchanged since they last visited him.

Gray, condemned to death with Mrs. Snyder for the murder of the woman's husband, Albert W. Snyder, received his first visitors in a month
Sunday. His mother, Mrs. Margaret Gray, his sister, Mrs. H. E. Logan, and Mr. Logan discussed with him
his appeal from the death sentence.

Gray has expressed himself as justified by the failure of his friend, Haddon Gray, to visit him, since permission was accorded him by a supreme court order. Haddon Gray unwittingly had helped Judd to prepare his "alibi" in Syracuse following the Snyder murder.

TWO DRUNKS ARE FINED $10 EACH ON MONDAY

Henry Hughes, alias Spray of Men-asha, paid a fine of $10 and costs for drunkenness after pleading guilty
before Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Monday morning. Spray, who gave as his name as Hughes
when arrested, was apprehended by Officers Fred Arndt and Carl Radtke
at the Chicago and Northwestern railroad station at 1:30 Sunday morning.

Claude McCabe, 1020 W. Spencer-st, also paid a fine of $10 and costs after pleading guilty to a charge of drunkenness before Judge Berg. McCabe was arrested in the alley near the Post-Crescent building, between Appleton and N. Superior-sts at 9:30
Sunday night.

Joseph Bestlar, 11 Jefferson-st, arrested by Officer Gus Herserkorn on W. College-ave at 4:45 Sunday afternoon for being drunk, was to be arraigned Monday afternoon. Fred Surprise, Shooton, arrested by Officer
Gus Herserkorn at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon for driving with four in a coupe, also was to appear in court Monday afternoon on a charge of reckless driving.

FORMER LOCAL MAN HELD AT MILWAUKEE

Otto J. Pautz, formerly of Appleton, was arrested Saturday afternoon by Walter Scherck, deputy sheriff, on a charge of passing a worthless check
in Milwaukee. Sheriff Otto Zuehlke received a telegram from Milwaukee authorities last week asking him to apprehend Pautz who was alleged to have passed a worthless check for more than $10. A close watch was kept but it was not until Saturday afternoon that Pautz was found. He was arrested by Deputy Scherck as he alighted from the Kaukauna-Appleton bus at the corner of E. College-ave and Morrison-st. Pautz was taken to Milwaukee late Saturday night by a detective from that city. He is to face charges there this week.

CHILDREN ADOPTED BY RESIDENTS OF COUNTY

One hundred forty seven children have been placed in Appleton and Oshkosh homes for adoption
through the agency of the Children's Bureau of Wisconsin during the past year, according to a report
made by the Rev. Fred C. Brayton, Appleton, as a business session of the Wisconsin conference of the Methodist Episcopal church Saturday. There were 440 children placed in homes for adoption by the society in the state.
Those taken in as wards numbered

BURNS ARE FATAL TO AGED ALGOMA WOMAN

Green Bay—(P)—Miss Colina Rom-den, 70, of Algoma, died in a local hospital Sunday night from burns received when fire in the kitchen stove
ignited her dress Saturday afternoon.

tor Romden, with whom she resides,

MADISON COPS BELIEVE THEY KNOW ROBBER

Musician Pursues Suspect and Recognizes Him—Bloody
Handkerchief Found

Madison—(P)—Police and sheriff
offices here were almost certain Monday that they have identified the young man who robbed the South Side States Bank of $2,200 Thursday morning after falling in an attempt Wednesday afternoon and that they have found the home where he has been hiding, severely wounded, since that time. The bandit, who is 22 years old, is thought to have been identified with a gang of creamery robbers
partially rounded up some time ago.

J. F. "Jack" McMahon, musician
who lives in a subdivision near here,
seeing a prowler about his home
Sunday night chased the man. Mc-Mahon suffers from a heart ailment
and could not run fast, so returned to his house for his car. The prowler lost himself in the darkness of the country around McMahon's home.
McMahon, having no telephone, drove quickly to the police station, reported the incident, and throughout last night and early Monday morning police hunted over the suburban district
for the suspect.

FIND BLOODY HANDKERCHIEF
They found a bloody handkerchief,
half smeared in the garage of the home where the supposed robber had been staying and found fresh blood on the front doorstep of the house. The hunt continued Monday police being certain that the wounded bandit cannot get far from the locality if his wounds, inflicted by a hastily organized posse that fired upon him as he escaped from the bank, are still open
and bleeding, as the handkerchief indicated.

The suspect is also wanted, police said, at "Friendship," in connection with the killing of Jerry Kelly, alleged safe-breaker and burglar. He roomed in the house next to that of McMahon, when a family row moved from the suburban home, lived in the place. He disappeared at the time of the creamery theft ring arrests. Some of his clothing and his automobile
were left in the home and garage.
The police seized the car.

The person who left traces of the bandit apparently lived at the expense of the McMahon's. Mrs. Mc-Mahon reported the several times during the last few nights her ice
box has been raided.

McMahon knows the suspect. He said that the prowler's physical appearance in the darkness tallied with Penell's and that the prowler continually held or had tied a handkerchief over his face.

TIGER WOMAN ATTEMPTS TO KILL SELF IN PRISON

San Quentin Penitentiary, Calif.—
(P)—Clara Phillips, the "tiger woman" under sentence from ten years
to life for slaying Alberta Meadows at Los Angeles in 1922, has threatened another attempt at suicide, because
"she can't live 50 years in an hour."

Everything that might be used as a weapon has been taken from Mrs.
Phillips and she will be kept under guard. Warden James Holahan said Monday after revealing how she tried to end her life the night of Sept. 1.
The warden said she had been morose
and recently quarreled with friends.

BICYCLE IS SMASHED BY MICHIGAN AUTOIST

A bicycle belonging to John Horton, 518 N. Mary-st, was smashed
when a car driven by R. G. Menser, Muskegon, Mich., backed into it about 10 o'clock Saturday morning. Horton left the wheel parked at the curb on the west side of N. Oneida-st. Menser agreed to pay for the damages.

Cal Back At White House After Summer Vacation

Washington, D. C.—(P)—Returned to his desk in the White House after his summer vacation in South Dakota, President Coolidge Monday was greeted by a throng of admirers. He was met by the Republican leaders of the senate and house and to a special session of congress or of the senate alone.

Senator Curtis of Kansas, and Representative Tilton of Connecticut, were among the first on the president's calling list. Both were emphatic in their declarations that there was no necessity for a special session.

Washington—(P)—Refreshed by his three months residence in the Black Hills of South Dakota, President Coolidge was back at his desk Monday to fackle an accumulation of important business he had sidetracked, pending

congressional leaders. Showing no

Where Victim's Body Was Hidden In Hill Murder

This is the Hill home in Streator, Ill., where the body of Mrs. Elizabeth Hill was found. Harry Hill, her 22-year-old son, denied Monday morning, at the place where his mother had been buried, that he is guilty of the murder. He was arrested recently at Seattle, Wn.

MARRY AGAIN? NEVER! SAYS LITA, BUT MOTHER IS NOT SO DEAD SURE

New York—(P)—Mrs. Lita Grey Chaplin was visiting New York for the first time Monday, with matrimony for ever behind her
and a vaudeville career under consideration.

"Marry again?" she exclaimed.
"I have had enough to last me
the rest of my life. Never again."
"Never is a long time," interposed Mrs. Lillian Spicer, mother of the girl who became the comedian's bride at 18. "She is young yet, you must remember."
Mrs. Chaplin did not comment on a report that she had been booked for a vaudeville tour at $7,500 a week. She won a divorce settlement of $825,000.

THREE INJURED IN WEEKEND ACCIDENTS

Oshkosh Man Is Killed When
Car Hits Tree—Driver Held
By Police

Three persons were slightly injured
in two weekend accidents in Appleton,
according to reports at the Appleton
police department. The injured are:
Walter Marks, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Marks, Kimberly, scalp wound and cuts about both legs.
Theodore Niles, 1017 W. Summer-st, slight bruises about chest and hand.
Benjamin Kohasky, 1223 N. Bennett-st, lacerated scalp wound, not considered serious by attending physicians.

The Marks boy was injured when he was thrown to the pavement by a car driven by Harvey Krueger, 902
W. Oklahoma-st, on W. College-ave
about 10 o'clock Saturday night.
Marks was crossing the street from north to south about 150 feet west of Superior-st intersection and he was struck by the Krueger car, which was going east.

Niles and Kohasky were injured in a collision at the corner of W. Packard and N. Richmond-st at 11:30 Sunday morning. Niles was driving his car south on Richmond-st and when he turned to go east on Packard-st he collided with the machine driven by Fred Meyer, 816 W. Elsie-st. Meyer was going north on Richmond. Meyer was uninjured. Kohasky was in the car with Meyer. The front end of both machines were considerably damaged.

YOUTH DIES AT WAUSAU

Wausau—(P)—Edward Doehm, 19,
was killed and several others in the automobile were seriously injured late Sunday when the car in which they were riding, "straddled" the railing to a highway bridge, several miles west of Wausau, and overturned.

JUDGE DENIES WRIT TO STOP DEMPSEY BATTLE

Chicago—(P)—Judge Otto Kerner in circuit court Monday refused to stop the Dempsey-Tunney fight here next week when he denied an injunction
to restrain Jack Dempsey from fighting Gene Tunney until he carried out an alleged contract with Coliseum club to fight Harry Wills, Negro heavyweight.
While Dempsey was getting out of court proceedings Tunney was becoming tangled in legal matters. Thomas
M. McInnis of New York, who said he was Tunney's social secretary last year at a salary of $15,000, filed suit against the world's heavyweight champion for $15,000, alleging breach of contract.

McInnis asserted that he acted as business secretary and confidential adviser to the champion until Tunney decided to engage Eddie Egan.

HILL INTERVIEW SECRET

Officers Refuse to Reveal Results of Inquiry in Streator Home

Ottawa, Ill.—(P)—Harry Hill stood in the gloom-shaded basement of the Hill homestead early Monday, looked into the shallow grave where the body of his mother had been found and
repeated again his denial of all knowledge of how she met her death.

For an hour he was questioned in the dimly-lit cellar by officers who had driven him 300 miles overland in an automobile from La Crosse, first to Ottawa and then, with hardly a pause,
to Streator, where the Hill home stands.

What happened there, what questions were asked, what answers were made, officers would not say. It was indicated only that the 22-year-old youth had denied again the charges of murder that were brought against him
shortly after his mother's body was found buried under bricks in the cellar floor. After the questioning Hill was brought back to Ottawa and locked up in the county jail.

RETURN IS DRAMATIC

The end of his journey from Seattle,
Wn., where he was arrested after nationwide search was pitched to high drama. He was taken from a train at La Crosse and under the flashing
of guns in the hands of two groups
of officers, placed in an automobile
and started on the 300 mile overland journey here.

The near passage-at-arms as young Hill stepped down from the Oriental limited at La Crosse was the result of a misunderstanding between two consin and Illinois officers. The latter, who said they were acting under instructions from the state's attorney
of LaSalle-co, Ill., arrived in La Crosse
by motor cars for the purpose of bringing Hill here.

The La Crosse officers, however, believed the Illinois men, all heavily armed, for Chicago gunmen intent
upon rescuing Hill from his train guard.

When the Illinois deputies stepped forward to take Hill, the Wisconsin
officers threw a guard about the accused. Guns leaped from holsters on both sides.

FATHER PROTESTS

Meanwhile, Dr. H. C. Hill the boy's father who had been accompanying his son on the train from Seattle, leaped
among the officers.

"Stop! Stop!" he cried. "That's my boy. You can't take him away like that. What are you doing with my boy?"

Those who witnessed the scene said
they expected gun-fighting any second.
The Illinois and Wisconsin officers,
however, found out that neither were gunmen and that each side had the same object; to see that the prisoner
was not lost to the law.

Sheriff Walter Rice of La Crosse ordered Hill senior arrested. Then he drove the drive to Ottawa, with Dr. Hill left behind until his difficulties with the La Crosse authorities could be straightened out. When he eventually was released he was obliged to wait
several hours for another train.

During the motor trip here Hill was served with five additional warrants
all involving charges of slaying Mrs.
Hill. These warrants, it was explained, were precautionary, to thwart possible defense moves. It was to forestall any defense coup that Hill was taken from the train at La Crosse,
instead of being brought on here by rail.

PANAMA TAKES CANAL DISPUTE TO GENEVA

Geneva, Switzerland—(P)—Panama's
public presentation to the league of nations assembly of the details of her dispute with the United States
concerning the sovereignty of the canal zone has caused something of a sensation here.

It is distinctly created the impression that the Latin-American countries will not only air at Geneva political problems arising among themselves, but also those which directly affect the United States.

Panama appealed to the United States to accord her satisfaction in her claim that complete sovereignty over the canal belt has not been abandoned
by cession of special administrative rights there, but it is remarked here
both by Europeans and Americans that she made this appeal through the medium of the league.

cine's "cat bandit," was hurried through court Monday. He waived examination before a court commissioner and went directly into municipal court. Judge Burgess sentenced him to from one to five years on each
of three counts of assault unarmed,
the terms to run concurrently.

ALGER OUTLINES LAYMEN'S TASKS AT CONFERENCE

Some Part of Church Work
Hereafter Will Be Delegated
to Church Members

Laymen of the Methodist conference should be given some specific work to do by the conference, something that will give them an incentive for further work in the opinion of Lewis B. Alger, Detroit, president of the Detroit conference laymen's association. Mr. Alger spoke Saturday afternoon before the joint meeting of the laymen and pastors of the Methodist conference at the Methodist church.

In beginning his address Mr. Alger showed why the laymen had not had a chance to become more actively interested in church work. Usually they had little conception of what they might be able to do, he said, and church pastors meeting as groups talked over their own problems but never gave the laymen information that might acquaint him with the situation.

Lack of organization was also given as another reason that laymen were unable to accomplish anything. The speaker said that the ministers and laymen should meet with the attitude that the former are the experts who know what is needed in a church and that the latter are the producers or persons who can bring about the work. He asked that this situation be recognized by members of the conference.

CITIES ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Going into a recital of what really can be accomplished by lay organization, Mr. Alger cited the accomplishments of the Detroit conference laymen's association, with which he is connected.

An investigation of the rural districts near Detroit, Mr. Alger said, showed that many of the districts had no churches or Sunday schools. In these cases the association delivered into the reason for the lack of interest and established churches and schools. In this connection they also supplied pastors for many rural districts and succeeded in arousing interest to the point where nearly all the churches now have their own pastors.

More interest was shown in the boys of the churches in the conference and it was in this work that many of the laymen received most return and showed most interest. Boys' clubs were fostered in many sections and extensive Bible work done. The habit of passing out Bibles to the boys and having them read sections of the book every week brought about 600 conversions among the youth.

After Mr. Alger had finished his address a resolution was introduced by the Wisconsin conference laymen's association asking that the conference delegate some part of the conference work to the laymen, which might be handled by the association. The resolution was unanimously approved and adopted by the meeting.

COMMITTEES REPORT TO C. C. DIRECTORS

Local Man Will Attend National Convention at West Baden, Indiana

Reports of committees of the chamber of commerce occupied most of the session at the first fall meeting of the board of directors Friday noon at Hotel Northern. Other business included the announcement of a meeting of the national chamber of commerce at West Baden, Ind., Oct. 15-18, and an appeal from the New Orleans association of commerce.

The New Orleans association requested the local chamber to ask local motion picture houses to secure a certain film depicting the seriousness of the Mississippi river flood in the south. The request will be referred to the theatre owners. The West Baden meeting will be held to discuss and prepare a program of work for the chambers of the country for the new year. Elmer H. Jennings, national councillor of the local chamber, probably will attend.

The municipal golf committee reported on the action of the city council in donating $4,000 toward a municipal links here. The directors voted to give E. H. Harwood and his committee a resolution of thanks for their work toward securing the course. J. J. Plank and the highway committee also were thanked for their work during the past year, especially for their part in securing the paving of Lake road.

$3,000 IS RAISED
The publicity committee reported that $3,000 had been raised for the Appleton Community Builders campaign. It also told of the work in letter and billboard advertising to date and the proffered assistance of the Advertising club and city council. The recall trades committee reported on the fall opening of Appleton stores.

The Appleton industrial exhibit at the state fair in Milwaukee was one of the best in the exposition building. Hugh C. Corbett, chamber secretary, reported. Eighteen local concerns were exhibitors. Mr. Corbett also reported that he is attempting to have the state highway commission change the Appleton highway marker on route 15 to a place on federal highway 10 near the Cherry-st. bridge.

A resolution was read from the Fox River Valley Ministerial Association commending the chamber for its stand regarding carnivals. The directors adopted a resolution favoring a statewide movement against operation of gambling games with carnivals.

It was decided that with the start of fall directors would meet every other week. During the summer months the regular meetings were held monthly.

America's Constitution

No. 1

Editor's note—William Gladstone, the famous British statesman, called the Constitution of the United States "the most wonderful work ever struck off at a given time by the hands and purpose of man." Yet today few people really know what that constitution contains. This is the first of a series of 12 informative articles by Harry Atwood, president of the Constitution Anniversary Association. They are written with a view to helping in the observance of Constitution Week, Sept. 11 to 18.

BY HARRY ATWOOD
President, Constitution Anniversary Association

September 17, 1927, will mark the 140th anniversary of the completion and signing of our Constitution. It is now the oldest written Constitution still functioning in the world, and not withstanding the tremendous increase in population and territory and the epochal changes which our country has undergone—including the shock of the Civil War—this historic document, marvelous in its simplicity, lives on as fit for its tasks today as when it was signed at Philadelphia in 1787.

In his great "farewell address," delivered on September 17, 1796, the ninth anniversary of the signing of the Constitution, Washington expressed the hope:

"That the Constitution may be sacredly maintained—that the happiness of the people of these states may be preserved, and so prudent a use of this blessing, as will acquire to them the glory of recommending it to the applause, the affection and adoption of every nation."

WASHINGTON'S FAITH
Washington believed so thoroughly in the endurance and usefulness of the Constitution that he expressed the hope that other nations would adopt it as their form of government. In 1857, after a hundred years of testing, William Gladstone, who served fifty-five years in the public life of Great Britain, said:

"It is the most wonderful work ever struck off at a given time by the brain and purpose of man."

Our Constitution is the foundation upon which this republic rests and is quite generally considered the wisest plan of government ever conceived.

Under its beneficent influence we have made orderly progress unparalleled in history until we have become the leading nation of the world. The governmental atmosphere of individual security provided by the Constitution stimulated individual effort toward discovery and invention, so that a major portion of all inventions in world history have occurred on American soil since our Constitution was written.

We have advanced from oxen and wooden plow to tractor and farm machinery, from scythe to combined reaper and thrasher, from candle and water wheel to electric light and power, from one-man ships to great manufacturing plants, from stage coach to pullman palace car, from messenger boy to cablegram, and from covered wagon to the Lindbergh flight.

We have become the leading industrial nation, due in a marked degree to the fact that the corporation method of conducting commerce has been taken largely from the plan of the Constitution, generally conceded to have been the first and best plan of successful co-operation ever devised.

THE GREAT HARMONIZER
Under the Constitution we have solved problems and secured individual comforts and privileges that had baffled philosophers and statesmen for ages, and have harmonized into a splendid and loyal citizenship people of many nationalities coming to our shores with varying ambitions and ideals.

Notwithstanding, however, the vital importance of the Constitution to our well-being as a nation, the number of persons who know much about it is tragically small.

Our public schools were established decades ago for the primary purpose of developing an intelligent citizenship, and yet, in a public address delivered at Washington, D. C., in October, 1924, Dr. John J. Tigert, United States commissioner of education, said:

"I do not believe there are more than a very limited number of persons, perhaps a hundred who really know what is in the Constitution of the United States."

HOW MANY LAWYERS KNOW IT?
We naturally look to lawyers for a sound understanding of the Constitution, and yet, in the report of the Committee on American Citizenship, presented at the meeting of the American Bar association in Denver, Colorado, July 14-16, 1926, the following confession was made:

"Lawyers are being graduated from our law schools by the thousands who have little knowledge of the Constitution. When organizations seek a lawyer to instruct them on the Constitution they find it nearly impossible to secure one competent."

These are but two of many similar statements which have been made in recent years, revealing not only our neglect of this priceless heritage so essential to the welfare and perpetuity of American institutions, but

MISS WILSON TO TAKE
LOCAL DEACON'S ORDERS

Miss Elizabeth Wilson of Appleton was granted the privilege of taking local deacon's orders in the Wisconsin conference of the Methodist Episcopal church by members of the conference at their session Saturday. Miss Wilson has completed the work for both local deacons and local elders but asked only to take orders this year for the deacons.

She taught at Lawrence college at one time for a period of five years and is a graduate of the school. She was licensed in 1925 to preach in the New York conference, where she then resided. A national officer of the Y. W. C. A. for many years, Miss Wilson represented the association in foreign lands and was located in India a large part of her term.

emphasizing forcefully our duty toward a better understanding. Tomorrow: "The Transforming Influence of Our Constitution."

COMMITTEES GIVE REPORT ON SUMMER WORK AT Y. M. C. A.

First Fall Meeting of Board of Directors Held Friday Afternoon

Reports of employed officers and committee members of the Y. M. C. A. for July and August were given at the first fall meeting of the board of directors of the association Friday afternoon. Not all of the work could be transacted and a special board meeting was called for 7:30 Tuesday evening at the association. At that time President F. J. Harwood is to announce committee chairman for the new year and they are to confer with employed officers to choose their committees.

A report of the house committee showed that all the redecorating and repairs to the building, dormitories and halls had been completed. The committee was instructed to inspect the cafeteria as to needed equipment and redecorating. The committee also will study the need for an ice refrigerator system in the cafeteria and types of refrigerators.

The board voted to grant the Post-Crescent the use of the tennis courts and fire escape for its playground board during the week of the world's series.

A discussion of the association's support of the general agencies of the Y. M. C. A. was held and it was referred to the finance committee with instructions to report at the special Tuesday meeting. The committee is to submit recommendations to the board as to the amount to be given for the various agencies.

The 1927 membership campaign was discussed by R. M. Eickmeyer, membership secretary, and he reported that actual plans for the drive, which will be held from Sept. 26-30, inclusive, would be ready by Tuesday. The campaign commander-in-chief probably will be chosen by Monday evening.

AMUNDSON INVITED TO FARM CONGRESS

Robert Amundson, Outagamie county agricultural agent, has been invited to attend a Wisconsin farm congress to be held at Madison on Thursday and Friday, October 13 and 14. The main sessions will be held in the university gymnasium.

The purpose of the congress is to determine what part Wisconsin will take in state and national farm relief legislation and develop such a program or organization as may seem advisable to achieve that end.

The invitation, extended by a committee of five, says that "the net income of the farm should be such as to support an American standard of living. The Wisconsin farmer should speak in an organized way along legislative, taxation and marketing lines for proper adjustment in a state and national way."

Members of the "committee of five" are J. C. Schuman, I. M. Wright, Robert Caldwell, Louis Radtke, and W. A. Duffy.

STATE METHODISTS WATCHED AT COLLEGE

Wesley Foundation Cares for Welfare of 300 at U. of Wisconsin

About 300 boys and girls from Methodist churches in the Wisconsin conference go to the University of Wisconsin each year and are watched over by Wesley foundation, Dr. Arlie H. Krussell of the foundation said in his report of the institution at the Friday session of the Wisconsin conference of the Methodist Episcopal church at the First Methodist church here.

The Appleton district sent 70 last year; Fond du Lac, 37; Janesville, 72; and Milwaukee, 93. Another group of 350 students come from Methodist churches of the West Wisconsin conference and about 300 from 37 other states in the union of those professing no decided interest in any church and the Methodist share is about 1,000, he said. Thus the foundation has tried to reach out to about 1,800 students at the university.

Facilities at the foundation are inadequate, he maintained, as the room where meetings are held will seat only 275 when 325 and more often seek admittance. The crowds are particularly large at Christmas, he added. If the worship resources could be doubled, sessions of 600 or 700 students could be gathered within two years, he believed.

Weekly social activities are arranged by the officers.

DESPONDENT WORLD WAR VETERAN ENDS LIFE NEAR NEENAH

John Hesselman Fails in First Attempt to End Life. Then Hangs Self

Neenah—John Hesselman, 35, ended his life by hanging Saturday after a failed attempt at suicide had failed. The body was found in Miller woods, suspended from a tree by an overall strap. "I am tired of life and have gone to the woods to kill myself," read a note found in a cedar six miles south of where Hesselman had occupied for several months.

The body was found by Charles Payne who lives on a farm near the woods and who was led to the spot by the barking of dogs which had gone into the woods from the road. A short distance from where the body was found a 25-gauge rifle. It is believed that Mr. Hesselman tried to end his life but failed and then resorted to hanging. Mr. Payne went to his home and notified Winnebago officials at Oshkosh, who came to the scene and ordered the body removed to Oshkosh for examination.

The first word of the tragedy to reach Neenah was late Saturday afternoon when Charles Sorenson, a painter, was summoned to Oshkosh to secure the body and bring it to Neenah and turn it over to the relatives.

Hesselman is a son of William Hesselman of Neenah who, at the time of the hanging, was working near the Herdicks estate, less than a mile away. He accompanied the body to Oshkosh, where he testified that the man had been in ill health for some time and that the son had been despondent, the result of brooding over losing his job at the Ryndall Beer farm a few days ago. He was seen about the cottage several times in the week ending Friday afternoon. Mr. Hesselman was enlisted at Milwaukee with the Seventh division. He is survived by the father and one brother, Clarence Hesselman, both of Neenah. The funeral was held Monday afternoon from the home on Seventh street. The services were conducted by the Rev. L. E. Schlegel.

FOX TROT CONTEST WED., WAVERLY

How To Play Bridge

By Milton C. Work

The pointer for today is: THERE ARE MANY HANDS IN WHICH THE QUESTION OF WHETHER DEALER SHOULD MAKE A SUIT BID OR PASS IS DUBIOUS; NO FEATURE OF THE GAME AFFORDS GREATER OPPORTUNITY FOR SKILL.

Last week a series of twenty hands supposed to be held by a Dealer was given, and this week we have another series of Dealer's hands; but this time, instead of deciding whether to bid No Trump or pass, the question will be whether to bid a suit or pass. It is more complicated than the question considered last week and it will be more difficult to make a perfect score.

Tomorrow the correct bids for the first four hands will be given and the reasons explained. On Wednesday, hands Nos. 5 to 8 will be analyzed and so on at the rate of four per day. Fill an answer slip today and each day note whether your answers have been correct and, if not, why not. This is an opportunity for an interesting contest. Get your friends to fill slips and at the end of the week see who has the best score.

Score love-all; what should Dealer declare with following hands?

Accuracy Of Prophecy Proven Through Years

Kansas City—Twenty-three years ago a tiny baby lay in one of the incubators at the St. Louis World's Fair, squirming restlessly behind the glass walls of its little coop.

Many thousands of people stopped to look at the babe, and the course of the fair, and always—though no one ever knew just how it started—the rumor would buzz through the little groups in front of the incubator— "The baby's going to live, but it's always going to have bad luck—a fortune teller says so!"

AN UNHAPPY LIFE

Today Mrs. Marian Brown, the young woman who spent the first six months of her life in that incubator, is ready to admit that the fortune teller was right.

As a child she was unable to find much happiness. She was the center of innumerable legal squabbles, claimed by two families, forever being taken into some law court or other to fight to attorneys, wrangle over who should have her.

And as a grown woman her efforts for happiness have been balked, too. For now, only six weeks after giving birth to a baby, Mrs. Brown is going to court to seek a divorce from her husband, Dewey Brown.

Marian Brown was born in a St. Louis hospital. She was so frail that physicians suggested use of an incubator only as a means of postponing what they felt was certain death.

Another baby, born in the same hospital at almost the same hour, likewise was sickly. It, too, was put in an incubator at the World's Fair.

This baby died. And with its death, there began to gather the clouds of tragedy that have hung over most of her life of the other child.

WOMAN DISAPPEARED

Mrs. Caroline Bleakley, mother of one of the babies, was told that it was her child that had died.

The mother of the other baby disappeared.

Some six months later Mr. and Mrs. James G. Barclay of Moline, Ill., visiting the fair, fell in love with the incubator girl and arranged to adopt her. They carried out their plan and Marian was taken to their home.

Some time later a nurse at the St. Louis hospital where both children had been born called on Mrs. Bleakley. She told Mrs. Bleakley that her baby had lived and that the child who had died had disappeared.

Then began the long legal battles that overshadowed so much of Marian Brown's life.

Mrs. Bleakley was determined to have her. The Barclays were equally determined not to give her up.

Three times the child was kidnapped by one side or the other. Several times the mother went to prison for taking part in these kidnappings. Always there were legal entanglements surrounding Marian's childhood.

Then, at last, Mrs. Bleakley and Mrs. Barclay met in an attorney's office.

BLOW TO COMMUNISM

According to a London dispatch the British Trade Union congress by an overwhelming majority voted to sever relations with the All-Russian Council of Trade Unions. The action follows final conviction on the part of British labor that the Russian Trade Union is only a "blind for communism and the Red internationale. This step is of the utmost significance. Up to the last year British unionism has been the most fertile field for soviet propaganda, which has bored into the labor movement under cover of a world pooling of labor interests. The British trade unions being perhaps the strongest in the world, were an invaluable asset to Russia if an affiliation could be effected. The possibilities there made the mouth of communism water. A great effort has been put forth to ally the British Trade Union congress with that of Russia.

For some time past, however, British labor has begun to suspect the motives and the altruism of their Russian colleagues. When the government raided the soviet establishment in London evidence was uncovered to show clearly and fairly the relationship between the Reds, the soviet and Russian labor. When the British government denounced the trade treaty with Russia it in a sense presented an issue to British labor of sustaining or opposing its action. Although, has not formally sustained it, it has tacitly done so by voting to sever relations with the Russian labor movement.

This will be a heavy blow to communism and to the soviet. It will awaken sympathetic responses over all Europe, discrediting still further communism wherever it masquerades in sheep's clothing and making it difficult for it to gain converts. Gradually the world is coming to see the Russian political system for what it really is. Those who at first were inclined to support it and sympathize, if not cooperate with it, are among the first to openly and officially repudiate it.

"VIGILANCE MEN" EFFECTIVE

Shortly after the close of the war organized bands of bank robbers instituted a reign of terror in the Middle west. The large number of Liberty Bond holders in the rural sections kept their securities in small country banks and bands of robbers soon saw that this would be a fertile field. "It became a regular organized business" with the result that in 1920 there were 28 "bank robberies in the state of Iowa, with a loss of $223,000. The next year they increased to the alarming number of 56, with a loss of more than $250,000.

In one of these a sheriff and his son were shot and it was seen that some steps would have to be taken to supplement the policing facilities of the state. The governor authorized the swearing in of reliable citizens for the rural communities all over the state, so establishing "vigilance committees" of from four to ten in each, mostly service men who knew how to handle weapons. With state authority and local pride behind them they soon had the situation under control. The results, according to Frank Warner, secretary of the Iowa Bankers' association, were astonishing. In a year the losses from bank robberies dropped from $250,000 to $100,000 and after five years of operation the losses are a little more than $10,000 a year.

In Wisconsin, when proposals were made by the banks to organize vigilantes, Governor Blaine opposed and denounced the movement. He declared it smacked of militarism and he would have none of that in Wisconsin. It was better to permit vigilantes to go on robbing our banks than to stop them in the name of Iowa and other states have done. The results in Iowa speak for themselves. Perhaps after noting these results, the states and portions of Wisconsin banks may differ from the political policy at Madison on the subject.

PARTY ISSUE INSUFFICIENT

One must admire the pertinacity of the conservative Republicans of Wisconsin in their opposition to the La Follette machine. Against hopeless odds and a dark future they have been fighting with their backs to the wall ever since the unfortunate termination of the Philipp regime and the then indicated downfall of everything "regular" in the state.

Of technical mistakes there have been many, like the bringing out of Dr. Seaman for governor, the Oshkosh conferences and conventions, and the Wilcox fiasco of two years ago. There has been little to date that is tangible on which to base an appeal for popular support. It has been a program chiefly of opposition, and chiefly by political leaders who are either discredited or unable to engage the imagination of the voters. In the meantime La Folletteism has become Blaineism, and whereas the former had many virtues the latter has none.

Political reform in Wisconsin, if it is to come, must be something more than an appeal to mere party regularity. That call has lost its potency. The meeting at Wausau last week was to control the selection of delegates to the Republican national convention in the interest of the regular organization. That would be all right if it were allied with a definite and positive program of legislative policies. It needs something in the nature of a "cause" and not mere party adhesion. In states where voters have long followed the banner of a particular party without much introspection the party appeal is sufficient, but not in a state where the people are accustomed to break rather than uphold party traditions, and where the local atmosphere is stronger than the national. Therefore, we are not likely to get far in antagonism to the powers that now rule Wisconsin until a leader with vision and personality arises with a specific challenge. The party issue is not sufficient.

AVERAGE INCOME LARGE

America is the most prosperous country in the world. This is due in large measure to the vast output of our commercial industries. The average inhabitant of the United States had an income in 1926 which was one third more than in 1921. In 1913 the average income had risen to 2010. Even on the basis of the purchasing power of the 1913 dollar the 1926 income would amount to $1,186. There is no other country on earth with such a record.

The National Conference board points out that the growth of our manufacturing output reflects the vast potentialities of the application of power and machinery and organization to factory processes and the elastic possibilities of expansion of consumption of manufactured goods at home and abroad. It implies on the one hand increased efficiency and lower cost of production in our industries, and on the other enhanced standards of living for our population and a steady growth of our foreign trade in manufactures.

The recent Labor Day celebration has reminded us that never in the history of the world has labor had such good fortunes to celebrate as it has had in the past decade in the United States. The standards of living of our workers, using the term to include the salaried worker, is a wonder to our own economists and an amazement to the economists of other countries. Better homes, better clothes, better food, the movies, the phonograph, the radio and the automobile are all possible and mostly belong to the wage owner. A general prosperity, coupled with effective organization and education, has given him greater conveniences, comforts and advantages than was ever general to an average population in any country in any age. It seems well for us to occasionally hesitate long enough to count and appreciate our blessings.

WE CAN'T DISCARD THE TOOTHBRUSH

The first thing a person of ordinary intelligence ought to know about health, according to an outline suggested by Dr. Livingston Farrand, president of Cornell university, is the physiological basis for sound health. That's what I've been trying to tell you. Dr. Farrand presented his outline in 10 items, and in item 8 he said the ordinary person should appreciate the necessity for frequent medical and dental examination, and in item No. 9 he said the ordinary individual should have an intelligent basis for choosing wisely his medical and dental advisers. These two allusions to dentistry are the only reference to the teeth in Dr. Farrand's outline (I printed the full outline here Oct. 11, 1926). They are enough to remind us that the conservation of the teeth is a factor of considerable importance in the maintenance of health and further that modern dentistry is one of the essential fields in the art of medicine and modern practitioners in this field are qualified members of a learned profession. Indeed, the schooling of the dentist is now the same in all the fundamental subjects as the schooling of the physician, and if educational affairs were rightly conducted we should have no dental schools, but only medical schools, with proper post graduate instructions where those medical graduates who might elect the practice of dentistry could receive the necessary additional technical training for the special field of practice. But this logical development is yet to come, and meanwhile the dentists are in the somewhat anomalous position of being in the medical profession yet not of it. I hope this view of the situation is expressed clearly enough to preclude any suggestion that I lack respect for the profession of dentistry. I regard the modern dentist as professionally on the plane with the physician and I believe it would be mutually advantageous for dentistry and medicine to mingle in one fellowship.

One dentist critic of my teachings in reference to the saving of the teeth from decay is glad to note that I believe the toothbrush "does no harm, as a rule" and he would add that it does an immense amount of good in disturbing bacteria masses and stimulating the flow of blood to the gums, when the brush is properly applied as instructed by a competent dentist. This sounds reasonable enough. In fact I have always maintained that the application of a toothbrush and of any dentifrice or medicament should be left entirely to the advice of the individual dentist in every instance. Personally, one of the reasons why I long ago ceased brushing my teeth is that I rather shuddered at the consequences of disturbing bacterial masses. I felt about that as did the doctor on the train—he declined to be brushed up because he didn't like to stir up the germs that way, but the porter assured him all the germs his brushing would stir up would never do any harm.

Another doctor has been investigating the germs on toothbrushes, and his findings are frightful, so frightful that I'd rather not quote them here. He recommends a rather elaborate method of disposing of the germs on one's toothbrush, but—you can't do that, you know. What's the use, if you're going to use the brush right away to disturb more germs. If my dentist prescribed a toothbrush and a dentifrice for me I'd use 'em—or change dentifrices.

Annihilating a Soft Corn
Will you please tell me what to do for a soft corn between the toes. (G. W.)
Answer—First keep the opposing surface separated by pieces of gauze or cotton powdered with boric talcum or zinc stearate, and change these dressings three times daily unless you can go barefoot. Having overcome the moisture, treat the corn as an ordinary hard corn—paint it once daily with a solution of 30 grains of salicylic acid in half an ounce of flexible collodion—after a week or so it will soften and come away.

Only Hair
I have very oily hair. Only a few days after a shampoo my scalp is quite greasy—and my hair likewise. How can this be stopped? My hair is bobbed, but not slicked with anything as everybody thinks. (Miss W. F.)
Answer—Shampoo every four or five days. Night and morning rub into the scalp a little of this lotion:

Resorcin 10 grains
Alcohol of toilet water 1 ounce
(If the hair is very light colored or gray, watch for any sign of yellow or rusty staining and stop the resorcin.)

LOUIS BROMFIELD SPOILS A

SPLENDID THEME

Much more pitiful than a poor writer publishing a poor book is a writer doing the same thing. More pitiful still when such a fine writer hits on an extraordinarily good theme and spoils it.

That is my personal feeling about "A Good Woman," by Louis Bromfield. About a year ago when I read "Early Autumn," by Bromfield, I felt like throwing my hat into the air or doing something else like that to give vent to my enthusiasm. Then when a few weeks ago while on a brief vacation trip far from home I caught a passing glimpse in a book store window of "A Good Woman" it was hard to wait until I got home to begin it. It was of course, without entering the store and looking into the book, that the title, "A Good Woman," was ironic. Here at last was a writer who was tackling a theme that had fascinated me for many years. He would portray a woman who was regarded by all her world as a good woman, who considered herself good, who hadn't the slightest idea that any human creature could with the least justice consider her anything but good, but who, without knowing it herself, was fundamentally selfish, who did things for others because somehow they redounded to her own benefit, whose sacrifices, when analyzed, were mere self-indulgence.

I can think of few themes that are more worthy of the best powers of the finest writer. Great writers in fact have tried their hand at it and women of that kind are to be found in fiction as incidental characters. But here was an American writer of undoubted powers who was going to devote a book to it. It seemed like a literary event worthy of a celebration.

Which makes the fact the theme is spoiled all the more to be regretted. The fundamental elements that are inevitable in a story of that kind are there. First of all the "good woman" herself, Mrs. Emma Downes. Next in importance Philip, her son. Then her good-for-nothing husband, her daughter-in-law, her pious brother and his scatterbrained wife, a labor leader, an atheist, and various others who in one way or another touch the life of the central character.

Emma Downes arranges the lives of all who come into touch with her. Her husband escapes, soon after marriage, by abandoning her and going to Australia. But Philip is moulded into a missionary, although he is supposed to be a born artist. His mother also influences him to marry a missionary girl because a missionary makes of course have a wife. She makes the incredible arrangement that they shall be man and wife only legally.

Right there the story goes on the rocks. I doubt whether a writer with ten times the genius of Louis Bromfield could make this credible. He certainly falls completely. And in failing he fails to make Philip what he obviously wants to make him — an artistic genius frustrated by a mother who forces him to live her life instead of his own. It is impossible to believe that Philip could ever have managed his own life. That being granted, the wrong his mother is supposed to have done him by managing it for him obviously evaporates.

Emma Downes, moreover, is portrayed without subtlety. It is hardly credible that she would be universally regarded as a "good woman." The author tells us so but he doesn't make it seem plausible. Any number of characters learn to hate her in a remarkably short time. She is not the "good woman" when we all know. The fact that Philip himself does not see through her until she has wrecked his life only confirms the impression that he is fundamentally a poor thing, made of stuff that could not have been moulded into something fine, no matter how his mother had treated him.

That is the trouble with nearly all the characters — they are not people. Louis Bromfield has been called the "Galsworthy of America." But Galsworthy usually goes into life for his characters; in this book Bromfield appears to have gone to books for them.

The Question Box

Information on almost any subject can be secured by sending questions to the Post-Crescent Information Bureau, Fredric J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C. The bureau does not answer questions pertaining to medicine or the merits of stocks and bonds. Send a 2-cent stamp or a stamped and self-addressed envelope with your question.

Q. Can you give me a definition of a "Yes-man"? M. G.

A. The designation "Yes-man" is often given to a person who never expresses an opinion of his own, but agrees with everything that is said.

Q. Please explain what makes an airplane stay in the air. B. E.

A. An airplane is kept aloft because the upper pressure of the air against the wings is greater than the attraction of gravitation. Motion is required so that the plane may reach new sections of the air before gravitation has time to pull it down. This motion produces two effects. It creates pressure beneath the wings and suction above them. This upper pressure accounts for only one-fourth of an airplane's lift. As the machine glides along it pushes aside the air so that a partial vacuum is created on top of the wing. The resulting suction is responsible for three-fourths of the plane's lift. The wings of a plane are constructed in such a way as to produce the maximum suction effect.

Q. Is it known how many people in this country bear the surname Smith? N. G.

A. According to the latest figures available there are 1,504,300 Americans with the name of Smith.

Q. What States require but one license plate on an automobile? R. E. T.

A. As far as we are able to ascertain Georgia, North Carolina, Texas, and Oklahoma require only one license plate on an automobile. This regulation was also used in Florida.

Q. Will a needle float on water? J. S.

A. The surface tension produces a "skin" effect and the needle may be so lightly laid on the water surface that the skin effect is not overcome by the needle's weight. If the needle is wetted first, the surface tension of the water is easily overcome and the needle sinks. Greasing the needle prevents wetting.

Q. How many persons does it take to cause a riot? E. D.

A. The legal definition of riot is "a tumultuous disturbance of the peace by three or more persons assembled of their own authority."

Q. How many days were there in a year according to the Greek calendar? E. G.

A. The Greek calendar had 354 days. It was 11 1/2 days short of a solar year. This calendar included 12 months of 30 and 29 days alternately. To make up the loss of time, an extra month was added in alternate years except that every eight or nine years the extra month was omitted.

Q. How many miles of railroad are there in the world? A. L.

A. The total railway mileage of the world is 757,833 miles.

Q. Do all the bricks in a brick wall have to withstand the same pressure? C. B. T.

A. The Bureau of Standards says that all the bricks on the same layer of a brick wall have the same amount of pressure. But the layers below must stand the pressure of those above, therefore, the top layer has least and the lower layer the most pressure in an ordinary brick wall of usual design.

Q. Where is the oldest coal mine in the world? S. K.

A. The oldest working coal mine is probably one in Manchuria, which is said to have been worked first 2,000 years ago.

New York. — Of such tales as these is "Bagdad-on-the-Subway."

He had been a minstrel man, trailing around with the tent shows that made the provinces. South Carolina was his birthplace and some of his ancestors were negro slaves in the old south. He learned to dance and sing on the southern levees. Eventually he drifted into Harlem and took odd jobs . . . railroad porter and such.

So it went. Last summer he needed a job and was broke. He happened upon a carnival that needed a "wild man." He let them put a make-up on, learned to yell properly and went on tour.

A few weeks ago "Bosko," the Coney Island wild man, actually went wild. He went so wild that he hit a few spectators over the heads with bottles and stopped only when several policemen had pursued him. Over night the "Palace of Wonders" had to secure a wild man and the call went out. Now being any kind of a freak at Coney Island is no small achievement.

William McKinley Calhoun, the first character mentioned in this tale, was looking for a job. I saw him hastily putting on his makeup and practicing his ferocious whoops.

"You see," he remarked, "Ah won't hit no one over the head. No sah, I'm a gentleman wild man. I is. An' on this job Ah's goin' to make a reputation that'll gimme 'til man jobs as long as ah want 'em."

Then, down the street is the "Spider Boy."

Bob Garland, a fellow columnist, told me about him.

Bob went into the side show one day and found the "Spider Boy" gazing with faraway eyes on a young woman who was going about the tent. The Spider Boy is not a pretty thing to look upon. He has a good head, a pleasant face and a sturdy chest, but his legs are twisted like the tangled branches of a young vine. He seems to have been molded like a cork-screw.

It seems that once in a traveling circus where they exhibited the Spider Boy, there was a girl. She was a pretty girl, at least so the Spider Boy thought, and appeared with the "six stepping sisters," or whatever it was. Anyway the Spider Boy fell in love and one day managed to convey this to the girl and she agreed to marry him. Maybe she thought he was a good male-ticket, maybe she pitied him, maybe she was married him.

And not long afterward she left him and the Spider Boy found a note telling him she couldn't stand to look at him any more. He was too hopelessly ugly.

That was all. The Spider Boy was alone again in his strange world of wooden platforms and fat ladies and tattooed men and snake charmers.

He still loves her. Of course he hopes some day she'll come back or that he'll just get a glimpse of her. And now he seems to find resemblances in this girl or that who comes into the tent. His eyes follow these girls about, even as the spider is telling of his misfortune. He says the spider's legs were 50. He doesn't notice that eyes turn away. He just keeps on looking for a face that doesn't come.

Q. Can you tell me the author of the expression "Hell is paved with good intentions"? A. T.

A. Samuel Johnson used the expression "Hell is paved with good intentions," according to Boswell's Life of Johnson, and an earlier saying to much the same effect. "Hell is full of good meanings and wishes" is attributed to George Herbert.

Q. How many summer camps do the Boy Scouts maintain? M. A. N.

A. During the summer of 1926 there were 569 camps conducted by local councils of the Boy Scouts and the daily enrollment in these camps was 113,800 or a total for the season of 227,600 boy weeks. In addition to the council camps, many troops conducted individual camps, but the enrollment figures for these are not available.

Q. What is the increase in the price of cotton going to amount for to the South? W. A. R.

A. Definite figures will not be known until the crop has been marketed. It has been estimated, however, that the recent sharp advance in cotton prices means at least $200,000,000 to the cotton planters of the South.

LAY MEMBERSHIP IN CONFERENCES GAINS IN FAVOR

However, Ministers Are Unable to Agree Upon Plan of Representation

Ministers of the Wisconsin conference of the Methodist Episcopal church are generally in favor of lay representation in the annual conference, but were not in favor of the specific plan presented by the committee of memorials in its report Saturday morning at the conference session at the First Methodist church. Their recommendation of lay representation will be sent to the general conference to be held in Kansas City, Mo., in May, but the recommendation will carry with it no detailed plan containing ratios of representation, it was voted.

The memorial was brought from the Central Swedish conference and has been called the Swedish plan. It embodied the admission of laymen to the annual conference in the proportion of one delegate for each 800 members of the conference. This would give about 40 lay delegates in the Wisconsin conference and about 120 ministerial delegates. An annual lay conference including one lay delegate from each charge in the conference would be held for the purpose of electing the 40 delegates to the proposed annual conference, where business would be transacted.

HAVE VOTING POWER
The lay delegates would have the power to vote on all questions except that of choosing ministers to the general conference and annual conference, questions of ministerial character and constitutional changes.

In the discussion arguments were brought in favor of the so-called Kansas plan, instead of the Swedish plan. The former would have the laymen meet as separate body and one man would represent each charge, making for a more true democracy, it was claimed.

R. B. Stansell of Milwaukee, arguing in favor of the Swedish plan, maintained that it created no new machine and was thus to be favored. He answered the argument that it would not work by saying that a similar arrangement had worked in the Methodist church, south, for 75 years.

Dr. G. H. Trever suggested that the delegates go uninstructed to the general conference except for the favoring of the principle of lay representation. G. K. McInnis of Milwaukee, did not approve the plan, as he could "see how aristocracy can rise among laymen as well as among the clergy of the church."

THE FIREMAN'S ON FIRE

A SCENE FROM "FIREMEN, SAVE MY CHILD," FEATURING WALLACE BEERY AND RAYMOND HATTON TO BE SHOWN MONDAY TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY AT FISCHER'S APPLETON THEATRE.

STAGE And SCREEN

RIOTOUS COUPLE OF "BEHIND THE FRONT" IN "NAVY NOW" LEAD LIFE OF FIREMEN

Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton, the inevitable comedy team, who have convulsed audiences throughout the world with their antics in "Behind the Front" and "We're in the Navy Now" are back once more in what has been acclaimed the funniest farce of their careers "Firemen, Save My Child," at Fischer's Appleton Theatre today, Tuesday, and Wednesday.

"Firemen, Save My Child" is declared to have hit a new highwater mark in laugh films. With the same director, Edward Sutherland, and the same scenarist and comedy constructor, Monty Brice, who made the previous Beery-Hatton vehicle, a riot of uninterupted laughter has been brought to the screen.

"This quarter," Beery, Hatton, Sutherland and Brice, who have been aptly termed the "Four Horsemen of Hilarity" began their work together in "Behind the Front." It ripened into a greater success in "We're in the Navy Now." In "Firemen, Save My Child" with all four possessing an understanding of the work of the others, they are said to have attained the heights.

After twice appearing in federal government uniforms, Beery and Hatton decided to become municipal in their choice of costume. In the plot of "Firemen, Save My Child" and it is a comedy with a plot, they found an ideal vehicle. So they donned the blue of the fire fighters, with the same difficulty at finding uniforms which fit that beset them in the army and navy pictures and find themselves literally catapulted into a series of side-splitting adventures in which they succeed in all but wrecking one town's entire fire fighting system. However, they prove themselves heroes in spite of everything, involuntary heroes, but heroes nevertheless.

Tom Kennedy, who was their pet mechanic in their previous pictures, again makes life miserable for Beery and Hatton as the fire captain. Joseph Curad, who also appeared in the previous Beery-Hatton farces, is the dignified fire chief. Josephine Dunn, petite, blonde, beautiful graduate of the Paramount Picture School, supplies the love interest with Walter Geary, another graduate of the school as the juvenile.

Exploitation of Timber-growing on Reservation Given Set-back

Friends of the Menominee Indians on the Keshena reservation near Shawano who are opposed to the unnecessary exploitation of timber growing on the reservation, have been successful in stopping the Federal Bureau of Indian Affairs from installing an additional band saw in the saw mill at Neopit, according to Congressman George J. Schneider. The reservation is one of the beauty spots in the state where there are still some virgin forests. Mr. Schneider points out, and a band saw would hasten cutting down of the timber without special benefit to the Indians.

The late Senator R. M. LaFollette, who succeeded in passing the original appropriations for the establishment of a saw mill, had in mind the establishment of a one band saw mill sufficient to provide a source of employment to the natives, according to Mr. Schneider. The two-band mill would not be in line with the good purpose which motivated the senator in his original action. Mr. Schneider said, "A one-band mill provided employment for many Indians but did not provide for excessive cutting down of timber on the reservation."

WIRED PROTEST
On a recent visit to the reservation word came to the Congressman that bids for the installation of a second band saw at Neopit had been called for. He immediately wired the following protest to Secretary Hubert Work of the department of Interior:

"I protest attempt to install additional band-saw mill on Menominee Indian reservation. Two saws unnecessary and unwise. Present operations sufficient to saw maximum of yearly cut of 20,000,000 feet permitted under present law. Much timber sold direct from stump to local market. Two band saws will cause stoppage of mill when yearly limit is reached causing unemployment. The Menominee Indians in regular council in April, practically unanimously voted against a two-band saw mill. It is reported that leading members of the tribe now favor additional band-saw. Tribal action should be respected and guide department rather than individual opinions of so-called leaders. Respectfully urge your immediate attention." The protests against the installation of the two band saw mill brought a statement from Secretary Work to the effect that he has no intention of installing an additional band saw, although Mr. Schneider received a letter from G. C. Hammer, manager of the Menominee Indians mills at Neopit, confirming the fact that bids had been called for at the direction of the commissioner of Indian Affairs. These

METHODIST TEACHERS MAY BE DENIED USE OF SMOKING TOBACCO

Professors in schools sponsored by the Methodist Episcopal church should not be encouraged to use tobacco, particularly in the form of cigarettes, according to the recommendation passed by the Wisconsin conference of the church in its session at the First Methodist conference Saturday morning. The recommendation will be made to the general conference of the church to be held in May, 1928 at Kansas City, Mo.

G. K. McInnis of Milwaukee, prominent in prohibition work in the state for many years, expressed himself enthusiastically in favor of the recommendation. There were no arguments made against the motion to pass the recommendation.

Bids were rejected, however, in view of the opposition of Mr. Schneider and others.

MAN'S THOUGHTS CALLED PIVOTS ON WHICH AGES TURN

Bishop Locke Says Good Thoughts Are Ideals and Ideals Rule the World

What a man thinks, so is he, said Bishop Charles Edward Locke of the St. Paul area of the Methodist Episcopal church at the Sunday morning service of the eighty-first session of the Wisconsin conference of the church, held at the First Methodist church, Appleton.

"Thoughts not material things are the pivots on which epochs turn," he said.

"Thoughts are ideals and ideals rule the world, for the man is out of servitude who thinks. No man can steal out right to think. We are never alone when accompanied by noble thoughts.

"The real personality is invisible and the best associations must be with things of the spirit. Thinking is of the spirit," he maintained. "A good thought which once gets into the soul of mankind never gets out."

MAN IS THINKER

Bishop Locke urged that the words of Paul in the fourth chapter of Philippians in the Bible be remembered: "Whatever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are pure and lovely and of good report, if there is any virtue, if there is any praise, think on these things."

One cannot make an ape out of a human for man is a thinker, the bishop explained. "Maybe we came from apes. I do not know. That is none of my business. I don't care a snap where we came from. If I came from a cabbage I'm not one now, I'm far more interested in where I'm going."

"The greatest thing God ever did for us was to give us a soul. Man's opportunity lies in his chance to think. Otherwise animals are much like man, but because man is a thinker he can know God's thoughts.

"Thinking is the foe of all ignorance. Thinking is man's chance and peril. Our character and personality depend on our thoughts. If we dwell on good things, we become just, honest and pure. How wretched it is that things so often cling to us we don't want to remember. The right attitude of mind always precedes right living. Man cannot think evil and do good. Man's work will not last unless he is good."

Bishop Locke illustrated his belief in the impermanence of the work of a man whose thoughts are not good with Stanford White, the great sculptor, whose statue at Madison Square garden, New York City, gave place to millions of people. It has been torn down to give way to new buildings. The bishop believed that the lack of goodness in its maker was responsible for this destruction.

"I would rather sit near a good natured devil than a cynical saint," the speaker said in deploring the chronic cynicism found in the world. Pessimism also came under the ban of the bishop. "Some people are determined to be pessimists," he said, but he could see no good in turning from the happy things of life. "The happiest person is the one who thinks the most interesting thoughts and happiness should be one's aim in life," he believed. "He who seeks to be useful will be the happiest."

The bishop quoted Mary Lyon, who told the girls at Mount Holyoke seminary, "Young women, if you want to serve you must go where no one else will go and do what no one else will do."

"Of course no one can ever realize his ideal and life is a tragedy," the bishop said. "The tragedy is that the Methodists do not think, yet that the church was founded by scholars, Bishop Locke said. Wesley is quoted as saying, 'Think and let it think,' and his followers must think even as the fathers did, the bishop believed. He scorned those who believe that thinking became in a moment in the seventeenth, eighteenth and nineteenth centuries before this generation came to the earth. The truth will never hurt the church or anything," he said, but he warned not to say things are not true when great and wise men are still "on the fence" about their truth.

Bishop Locke scoured intolerance as the work of the devil. "To compare head all is to pardon all." He urged that the term "Christian" be not empty of meaning but that it should embody tolerance both when people were in trouble and when they were in health. "The old devil has managed this world by intolerance," he concluded.

Six additional applications for registration of poultry dealers have been received by John Hantschel, county clerk, bringing the total number to 21 applications. The new applications were filed by Otto A. Spritzer, George W. Otto, Charles Hopfensperger, and Boettcher Brothers, all of Appleton, and P. H. SPEAKER

Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes, Chicagoan, spoke at the First Methodist church Saturday evening as one of the closing events of the eighty-first session of the Wisconsin conference of the Methodist church, held here during the past week.

CHURCH WILL TRY
TO RAISE $50,000

Children's Hospital Will Be Assured if Sum Is Raised in 3 Years

Efforts to raise $50,000 for a children's hospital in connection with Bellin memorial hospital at Green Bay will be made by the Wisconsin conference of the Methodist Episcopal church during the next three years, it was decided following the hospital reports at the annual conference session Saturday at the First Methodist church. A group of individuals has offered $50,000 for this purpose providing the conference can raise a like amount within three years.

It was suggested that since other fund raising propositions of the church were to be relatively dormant until after general conference in May, 1928, that this year would be a good time to concentrate on raising money for a children's hospital. Only one institution of this kind is now located in the state. It is in Milwaukee. The Green Bay hospital would be under the auspices of the conference, as is the Bellin memorial hospital.

Sunday, Nov. 20, was designated as white cross day when pastors were asked to make a plea for the free bed work at Bellin hospital.

There were 1,075 surgical and 294 medical cases at Bellin hospital last year. Forty-five deaths were recorded, or 2.47 per cent of the hospital's population. This is the lowest death rate for any hospital except for the Methodist hospital at Madison. It is believed.

One hundred eleven babies were born in the hospital and all of them lived, he reported.

The average cost of operating the hospital for each patient was $35 a day, he said. The hospital gave 25,911 days of service in the past year.

CHURCH PENSION

Chicagoan Says That True Exultation Can Be Found in Good Works

A strong plea for support of the pension fund for retired ministers and their widows and orphans was made by Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes of Chicago in an address at the Saturday night session of the eighty-first meeting of the Wisconsin Conference of Methodist Episcopal churches. Bishop Hughes asked laymen of the church to be liberal in their donations to the fund, which would care for the men whose work had built up the Methodist organization.

He declared the ministers should not feel embarrassed when asking their parishioners to aid the pension fund in the thought that the action might look as if the pastor was trying to get something for himself. Bishop Hughes pointed out that the average minister doesn't live to become a pension charge and that statistics showed that most of the pension fund was used to support widows and orphans.

Dr. Hughes pointed out that God supplied three factors in the life of every man and each factor was closely bound to the other. He said they were relation, obligation and exultation.

Relations were part of the life of every man. He had a relationship with his children, with his wife, his parents, as a citizen of the city, state and county. As a result of these relations obligations were formed. No man could escape the obligations thus formed. It was a part of the system of life. The fulfillment of these obligations brought exultation, Bishop Hughes said.

He pointed out that all members of the Methodist churches, both laymen and ministers, assumed a relationship when they joined the church. Out of this relationship grew the obligation of aiding retired ministers and their widows and orphans. The fulfillment of this obligation would bring about exultation, Bishop Hughes said.

He declared that the spiritual penalty for not fulfilling this obligation would be much greater than the material injury to those who needed the aid.

Bishop Hughes said that money placed in this work would be wisely spent and the giver would have the assurance that the money really was serving a good cause.

"You can build public libraries and you are bound to attract some loafers. Public parks are bound to attract some bums. But money placed in a fund like this does all good and cares for men who are deserving."

Lowly Kawmen Take Measure of Bay Team; Les Smith Gets Another Homer

Kaukauna—Sunday was a field day for Kaukauna baseball fans. The local athletes won their fifth game of the current season when they trampled all over the big second place Green Bay team to the tune of 6 to 2 at the Kaukauna Ball park.

Les Smith, the Kaw manager, clouted one over the fence the first time up. This started Kaukauna on the path to victory. Ray Gertz was at the bat and pitched like a veteran allowing but 6 hits and 2 bases on balls while striking out seven men. The Kaws got 7 hits off Schutte with 8 free trips the score mounted rapidly. Schutte struck out seven men.

Battling honors for the day went to Les Smith, who got three hits in five trips to the plate. Clusman was the most help to the Green Sox. He got two hits in three times up, one of which was a homer in the fourth. No one was on the paths for either of the home runs.

Smith started the scoring for the Electric City crew in the first when he got his fourth hit. Green Bay could do nothing in the first three innings. In the second E. Sager got a walk and J. Phillips was hit by a pitched ball. Both scored on Reed's single.

Green Bay failed to score again in the third. Kaukauna was nothing at all in the third. Green Bay came to life in the fourth when Clusman knocked out a home run. The fireworks came in the fifth when Smith singled, and Stegeman hit forcing Smith at second. E. Sager got a walk. J. Phillips struck out. Reed got another free pass and the bases were loaded.

E. Sager, next man up, doubled and Stegeman and E. Sager came home. The Smithmen scored again in the sixth on a double by Stegeman and a single by E. Sager, the former coming home on the blow.

After the Bay team got three on in the seventh and a batting rally seemed quite probable, Ray Gertz tightened and struck out the next two men in succession. The third was an easy fly out.

Everything remained quiet from then on until the first of the ninth when the Green Sox tried another rally and managed to score one runner.

KAUKAUNA "Y" CUBS
CLAIM VALLEY TITLE

Schlafer Hardware Team 'Goes Down to Defeat. 6 and 5, on Sunday

Kaukauna—The Kaukauna Y. M. C. A. Cubs' claim to the Fox River Valley amateur baseball title was further strengthened and another chapter was eliminated when the Cubs showed over a 6 to 5 victory over the strong Schlafer Hardware team of Appleton in a game at the Combined Locks ball park Sunday.

The game was featured by the many errors of the Crescent city team, five in all, while the locals were committing three more.

Kilgas pitched the greater share of the game and allowed 11 hits while the Cubs could only get five hits off the steaming pitching of F. Laabs. Sylvester Dix played one of his best games at the home plate, making many difficult catches. In the ninth inning Merens again showed his ability for with men on second and third and two out. Merens was rushed in to relieve Kilgas and the Star Cub pitcher struck out the last man.

Kaukauna scored most of its runs in the third when four hits and several errors scored five runs. The only others run came in the eighth, when Becker scrambled across the home plate. Schlafer scored once in the second on an error by Miller, three times in the fifth and again in the eighth.

THIS WOMAN

FOUND RELIEF

After Long Suffering by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

In a little town of the Middle West, was a discouraged woman. For four years she had been suffering from a bad case of such poor health that she could not stoop to put on her own shoes. Unable to do her work, she was unable to go out of doors or enjoy a friendly chat with her neighbors. Life seemed dark indeed to Mrs. Daugherty.

Then one day, a booklet was left at her front door. Itly she turned the pages. Soon she was reading with quickened interest. The little booklet was filled with letters from women in conditions similar to hers who had found better health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I began taking the Vegetable Compound," Mrs. Daugherty writes, "and after I took the third bottle, I found relief. I am on my eleventh bottle and I don't have that trouble any more, and feel like a different woman. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to everyone I see who has trouble like mine. I am willing to answer any letters from women asking about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. E. Daugherty, 1235 Orchard Ave., Muscatine, Iowa.

 Neenah, bye.

Neither Boyle nor Crowe were good enough to halt the battering of Kimberly's sluggers, determined to make sure of the 1927 Fox River Valley League pennant, and as a result the Villagers took an easy victory over the Appleton nine Sunday afternoon in a Valley loop game at Kimberly. The final score, when the slaughter was over, was 15-3 in favor of the league leaders, eight of the runs denting the platter in the sixth frame. While Boyle and Crowe were pounded hard, Appleton could do little with Squaw Pocan's left-handed slants and as a result were credited with five hits and three runs. All of the runs were helped over by errors and a hit batter, though in two frames Appleton bunched two hits each.

The K-C men practically cinched the banner by the win at Green Bay, without Lewellen, lost its second straight game in two weeks, falling before the talented Kaukauna crew. Last week Appleton beat the Braves, and Lew, their only real hurler, will be playing Sunday football with the Packers from now on. Appleton's loss was as bad as that of Oshkosh, the only other squad that might have had a slim pennant chance. The Oshkosh men lost to Menasha, 8-2.

It was difficult to say who starred for Kimberly as even the weakest hitters on the team batted over .500, but Pocan fanned 16 Appleton batsmen with his widesweeping curve and drop, though twice he was aided by poor called strikes. In two frames he fanned three men in a row and on another he halted an Appleton rally with three strikeouts after the locals had loaded the sacks with none down. Only one run came over. Twice more he got two frame and in only one inning, the third, failed to get a single strikeout. Baetz, Radtke and Hillman fell three times each and Boyle twice. Brauty was the only invincible batter.

Every Kimberly batter got at least two hits but Pocan, who could do nothing but walk twice, showing weakly against southpaw hurling. Marty Lamers, Ray Smith and Hartjes, usually a weak batter, connected three times each. L. Thein and Cooke had triples and several K-C batters had doubles. Appleton's only extra base feat, a double by Van Wyck, scored two men in the opening frame. Ashman and Crowe each had a single and Brautigan had two in four bats. Brauty found Pocan's curves to his liking and only his aged legs kept him from four hits in four bats. His last effort was a scorcher to Vanderloop, which the K-C third sacker knocked down with a wonderful stop behind third and caught Brauty, by a swift peg, by a few inches.

THREE SCRATCH HITS
 Three times Kimberly scratched hits over the infield that Appleton infielders might have taken, but three men went for the ball, finally letting the outfielder try for it, and it fell safe. Appleton scored first. Baetz opened with a life on L. Thein's error on a drive past Pocan. Ashman hit to Pocan on an attempted sacrifice and Squaw pegged the ball into right over Schell's head. Baetz scored and Ashman took third, but each was set back and Manager Brautigan protested the game on ground rules. Turnover went out on a grounder to short and then Van Wyck doubled to left, scoring his two mates. Van took third on a hit and run play when Brauty singled to catch L. Thein watching second too closely. Schultz fanned on a called strike as Brauty moved for second. Marty Lamers took a short peg from Hartjes and got Van Wyck at the plate with a return heave when Van tried to make a double steal of it. Kimberly got one. Vanderloop walked and advanced two sacks on a wild pitch and a passed ball. Marty Lamers grounded out. Ray Smith singled to third and Vandy beat the peg to the plate, giving Ray a scratch hit. Here Appleton saved further trouble by a clever double play. Pocan flied to Turnover and Son dropped the pill on purpose to force Smith and the batter into a double play. In spite of a howl from Kimberly on the infield fly rule that lasted several minutes, the umps finally were able to show the K-C men where the rule book says there is no infield fly out with a man on first only, but only when there are at least two men on the sacks.

THREE IN SECOND
 Kimberly added three in the second on Cooke's triple and successive singles by H. Thein, Schell and Hartjes before three were retired in a row. Another came over in the third. Smith singled but was forced by Pocan. Pocan scored on L. Thein's triple. Cooke hit to Boyle and Ashman caught Thein at the plate on the prettiest play of the game. He took Boyle's peg far to the right of the pan and got his drive past Pocan. Ashman hit to Pocan on an attempted sacrifice and Squaw pegged the ball into right over Schell's head. Baetz scored and Ashman took third, but each was set back and Manager Brautigan protested the game on ground rules. Turnover went out on a grounder to short and then Van Wyck doubled to left, scoring his two mates. Van took third on a hit and run play when Brauty singled to catch L. Thein watching second too closely. Schultz fanned on a called strike as Brauty moved for second. Marty Lamers took a short peg from Hartjes and got Van Wyck at the plate with a return heave when Van tried to make a double steal of it. Kimberly got one. Vanderloop walked and advanced two sacks on a wild pitch and a passed ball. Marty Lamers grounded out. Ray Smith singled to third and Vandy beat the peg to the plate, giving Ray a scratch hit. Here Appleton saved further trouble by a clever double play. Pocan flied to Turnover and Son dropped the pill on purpose to force Smith and the batter into a double play. In spite of a howl from Kimberly on the infield fly rule that lasted several minutes, the umps finally were able to show the K-C men where the rule book says there is no infield fly out with a man on first only, but only when there are at least two men on the sacks.

PACKERS WALLOP MILWAUKEE SQUAD

Bays Start Season With Easy 34-0 Victory Over Non-league Eleven

Green Bay—Uncorking a dazzling passing attack and making the best of their opponents' misuses, the Green Bay Packers successfully lifted the lid on their 1927 pro football season by walloping the Milwaukee Eagles, 34 to 0, before a large crowd of costless gridiron fans who suffered nearly as much as the players from the torrid heat.

For the first quarter it was a nip and tuck affair. Murphy, the Milwaukee bootsmith, got off several long drives that more than counter-balanced the offensive thrusts of the Big Bay Blues.

On the third play of the second quarter, Red Dunn reversed the field and flipped a pass thirty yards into the waiting arms of O'Donnell for the first touchdown. Red kicked goal. A minute or two before half time, Dunn shot a pass to Dilweg and the big end galloped ten yards for a score. Dunn again kicked the goal.

Red Hearnden, former Notre Dame captain, made a touchdown in the third stanza by grabbing a pass from Dunn. In the closing quarter Lewellen received a toss from Dunn for the fourth marker and Enright made it a day by intercepting a Milwaukee pass and dashing forty yards through a broken field for the final touchdown. Enright and his troopers were never within the Packers' forty-five yard line. The Eagles only completed one successful pass and it is hard telling what the score might have been if it wasn't for Murphy's exceptional punting.

Considering the fact that seven new faces appeared in the Packers' lineup, the Big Bay Blues' gridiron machine stepped along on all eleven most of the time. It was the irony of fate that two Milwaukee boys, Dunn and Dilweg, played a leading role in the decisive upset of their home town club.

CHAMP TUNNEY TO GET MILLION FOR BIG FIGHT

Chicago—(P)—The week end visits of Tex Rickard to the training camps of Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey are believed by the boxing experts to relate to the division of the $3,000,000 gate for the Soldier Field battle of Sept. 22.

A Chicago paper says Monday that it learns Rickard has assured Dempsey of $437,500 with an additional $12,500 if the gate reaches or exceeds $3,000,000.

The ticket sale already crossed two million dollars, Rickard said. The Champions share, it is said, he has been assured will certainly cross the million dollar figure, the highest pay for a boxer in all ring history. The original Tunney contract was said to call for $500,000 with 50 and 25 percent shares of the second and third million taken in at the box office.

Babe Pinelli, former big leaguer, is now in the Pacific Coast League with San Francisco.

foe by a football, dive, headfirst to the platter, as he slid.

Kimberly failed to score in the fourth though Marty got a scratch hit when the fielders fooled with a pop fly. In the fifth, Cooke's single and H. Thein's double added another.

Meanwhile Appleton had been going down in order though Baetz fanned once on an extra high called last strike.

WINS AGAIN

Walter Hagen walked home with his fourth Western Open golf championship at Olympia Fields course, Chicago, winner by four strokes over Al Espinosa and Bill Methorn, who made strong bids in the stretch, but after it was too late to overcome the large early lead of The Haig. Hagen had 281 for 72 holes, was one under par, five under the record in the national open and but two shots more than his total in winning the same last year. He took an early lead and was never headed in the three-day play. Frank Walsh of Appleton tied for fifth with a 291, well within the prize money.

NATIONAL LEAGUE BATTLE TIGHTENS; CUBS, CARDS WIN

St. Louis Ties McGraws for Second, 2 from Top; Cubs 2 1/2 from First

Further changes had been affected Monday in the bunched race among the four clubs of the National League pennant race. Once again the fourth place club is only two and one half games away from the leader.

Hopes of the world's champion Cardinals flamed anew as the club whipped Brooklyn again and climbed into a tie for second place with the New York Giants. Only two games separate St. Louis from first place and the Giants, matching that pace, will invade the Mound city Tuesday for what may be considered an elimination series. The Cards and Giants will try to crowd in seven games in four days, and one of the contenders, if not both, may fall by the wayside.

Fred Frankhouse, a rookie hurler from Houston, pitched St. Louis to a 5-0 win over Brooklyn.

Hack Wilson's twenty-sixth home run of the season started Chicago off toward a 7-5 defeat of the Giants.

Cincinnati captured both ends of a double header from Boston, the scores being 5-4, 16-5.

The Yankees were two games removed from the American League pennant Monday. After having beaten the St. Louis Browns 21 times in succession the Huguenot fell before Milt Gaston's tight pitching, 6-2. Ruth

KIMBERLY SPORT MANAGER RESIGNS

"Ossie" Cooke Has Record in Two Years With Kimberly-Clark

Kimberly—L. O. "Ossie" Cooke, athletic director of the Kimberly-Clark mill and of the schools and village for two years, resigned his position Saturday. He will enter the University of Wisconsin law school the latter part of the month.

During his two years as athletic director, Cooke has put Kimberly on the sport map in both basketball and baseball circles. The first year, the Kimberly-Clark basketball team, which he managed and started on, won five district league and state titles. Last season, the team playing in faster company in the Wisconsin pro loop, ended the season in second place, just a game behind the league leader, Sheboygan. Both years Kimberly volleyball squads copped the district tournament of the Northeastern Wisconsin Y. M. C. A.

In baseball, the Kimberly team of Fox River Valley loop, of which he is manager, now leads the loop by three full games. Cooke will return each Sunday until the close of the league season to play his regular position in center field.

Who'll Succeed McNinis?
 Since one year is usually as long as most managers last with the Philadelphia Nationals, curiosity is being expressed as to who will succeed "Stuffy" McNinis as pilot.

James J. Corbett says, "Faversham's advice decided me on Luckies"

Famous former heavyweight champion, with Mrs. Corbett after breakfast at their home at Bayside, L. I., recommends Lucky Strikes.

William Faversham, The Popular Actor, writes:

"For years I have been a Lucky Strike enthusiast, in fact, I never smoke any other cigarette. In all this time I have never been troubled with throat irritations. In addition to the enjoyment that I get from the superior quality of Lucky Strikes, it is wonderful to know that my voice will never be affected by smoking."

William Faversham

You, too, will find that Lucky Strikes are mild and mellow—the finest cigarettes you ever smoked, made of the finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill, and there is an extra process—"It's toasted"—no harshness, not a bit of bite.

JACK LOCKWILL AT SUMMER CAMP

Judge frowned. "We mustn't have trouble with the Indians," said he. "Their reservation is near here, to the westward, and they could make it disagreeable for us if they took a notion." When the disappointed boys returned from the pursuit of Longpine, he told Saunders of his blunder, and warned him to be careful. "We didn't see any other Injun," said Buke skeptically.

"Do you mean to hint that Lockwill lied?" questioned Judge. "I didn't hint anything, sir," was the answer. "But we saw only one. Ask Lizard or Peewee."

"I've been Jack's guardian for ten years," said Brick Judge. "and I've never known him to tell a falsehood." "Well, he's pretty clever," sneered Saunders.

As soon as he could, Peewee Lannan told Buke how Lockwill had refrained from saying anything to Judge about the attempt to flag Longpine. The bully grinned with satisfaction. "I guess he kept still so we wouldn't blab about him making up to the Injun girl," he said. "But he tries to make a bargain with us to keep still if he does." "Here he comes now!" exclaimed Lannan. New London—The Green Bay Motorcycle club, with headquarters at Bayview beach, Green Bay, held a hill climbing contest on Sunday afternoon at Mosquito hill in this city. The event was restricted to motorcycle with 80 cubic inch, stock style motors and each contestant was given three trials, his average record being based upon the average of his climbs.

Mike Grissman, Kaukauna, with an average of 123½ feet, took first prize. Grissman drove a Harley Davidson. Joe Metter of Green Bay, driving a Henderson, took second.

A Harley Davidson piloted by Elmer Rohn of Appleton, took third prize. Metter with a climb of 138 feet made the best single effort of any contestant.

The crowd which turned out was one of the largest which ever attended a hill climbing contest in this section of the state. Other contests are planned for the future. Mosquito hill, which is situated about three miles east of the city, presents little climbing difficulties which are easily overcome by the motorcycle sportsman. It has many steep grades with outcropping stone and underbrush. The contest was held on the Elwood Brewer farm.

Flames Break Out in Car

Filled With Paper

Special to Post-Crescent.
New London—Fire was discovered Saturday night in a box car loaded with baled paper, when a train of the Chicago and Western railroad, bound for New London, was about three miles from this place. The train crew, composed of Ben Campshire, conductor; George Paape, engineer, and Charles Meitz, fireman, made an effort to put the fire out at the water tanks of the railroad. When the crew found that the fire was steadily growing more serious, the car was pulled into this city near the Equity Oil company and an alarm turned into the local department. The firemen worked for fully an hour before the flames were under control. A second alarm was turned in during the night when fire again broke out in the box of paper. This time the entire car was unloaded, but not before its interior was badly charred.

A loose wire, dangling from a high tension line, called the department out earlier in the evening, at about 6 o'clock, the wire being discovered by motorists passing on the Mill road near the drainage. The current was turned off and the wire mended.

Prospects for a winning football team for New London high school this year are a true even average. Given a good center and guard, a heavy tackle, a good end and substitute backs, Coach Bergland believes that there are chances of coming out of the woods in time to meet opposing teams with fair to middling results.

Candidates are light this year, the coaches agreed. Graduation took the following out of play: George Dernbach, half; Harvey Werner, quarter; Thomas Polley, end; Richard Cooley, center; Milton Carver, tackle; and Lawrence Schette, center. All positions with last year's team. These players are hard to fill, either with letter men or new material. Remaining letter men from last year are: August Becker, tackle; James Edminister, end; Francis Griswold, half; Victor Norack, guard; Ervin Lange, half; Harold Sweeney, center; and Seims, full; Roy Haha, guard; Lawrence Magolski, guard.

Last year's reserve material which will this year be whipped into form for team work presents a promising outlook, according to Mr. Polomus. Players who had some experience in the games of last year are: Leland Vincent, guard; Francis Werner, half; Vernon Burton, tackle; Louis Kische, half; William Dayton, quarter; Lowell Dent, Marvin Edminister and Theodore Weldenbach, tackles; Odea Nader and Matthew Clark, halves; Leo Barlow, guard.

New material showing promise includes Schimke brothers, Charles Pfeiffer, Claude Sackett, A. Barlow, M. Brown and Gillman Bergland.

Coach Bergland is a graduate of North Central college, Naperville, Ill., where he played as regular fullback for four years, captaining the team in his senior year.

APPLETON PRO IS FIFTH IN TOURNAY AT OLYMPIA FIELDS

Frank Walsh Ties for Fifth Money With 291, Ten Behind Hagen, the Champ

Leading most of the greatest golfers of the country, Frank Walsh, star professional of the Buttes des Morts Country club, finished the 1927 Western Open golf championship in a tie for fifth with Mike Brady, star New Yorker. Hagen, who won the national open, and lost in the playoff. Frank added a 72 and a 75 to his 144 Saturday to total 291, ten strokes behind Walter Hagen, who annexed his fourth Western Open crown by taking an early lead and sticking there throughout the three-day play. Hagen had a 69 and 73 Saturday to add to his 137. Frank was in second place Thursday and tied for third on Friday.

Never relinquishing the lead he obtained with a par 70 on the first round, Hagen took the title for the fourth time, four strokes ahead of his nearest competitors, Al Espinosa of Chicago, and William Mehlhorn of New York.

The champion increased his lead from one stroke on the first day to six on the second by setting a course record of 67 for the No. 1 links, and to nine strokes on the third round to-day with a 69 on No. 4 course. The titleholder slipped for the first time on the final circuit, taking 75, while some of the pack in pursuit shot spectacular golf in a vain endeavor to overhaul the leader.

Espinosa made the most sparkling display, scoring 67, or three under par, and equalling the course record set by Hagen two years ago in the finals of the professional championship. Mehlhorn chalked up a 69, only to find that he, like Espinosa, could do no better than put Hagen's lead to four strokes and tie for second place at 155.

Laurie Ayton made a similar bid in the third round, scoring 68, with a record of 32 on the second half, only to slip on the ultimate circuit and finish third with 255. Eddie Held of St. Louis, who had held second place at the end of the first two rounds, fell off and finished in a tie for seventh place with Craig Wood of Long Branch, N. J.

A third amateur finished among the twenty-one prize winners, Rudy Knepper of Chicago, tying with Eddie Held, Leo Diegel and Gene Sarazen at 297. Just ahead of Evans and Wood, Brady of New York, tied at 291 with Walsh.

Espinosa and Mehlhorn, of course, will split second and third money and Laurie Ayton will take fourth prize. Then come Mike Brady and Frank Walsh with their 291s on the rest of the 20 prize winners who ranged down to 300.

NEW CLUB IS INVENTED WHEN SCIENTIST GOLFS

State College, Pa.—(AP)—When a scientist took up sport almost anything may happen. Dr. Arthur H. Adams' "whizzbang" is a case in point.

The "whizzbang" appeared in the custody of Dr. Adams when he tried a round of golf at the Center Hills Country club, while attending the Institute of Chemistry of the American Chemical Society at summer.

It needed explaining and Dr. Adams explained.

When he took up golf he found that he spent a large part of his time in the

Much Youthful Talent Lost To Ball By Links

BY BILLY EVANS

The tremendous popularity that golf has attained during the past 10 years is the cause of this question being put to me time and again during the summer months, when the national pastime is at its height:

"How much has golf hurt baseball?"

There are two answers to that question. The first deals with any effect golf may have had on the attendance figures in recent years. The other relates to the influence for good or bad that golf has had on the playing talent which determines the brand of baseball offered.

I do not believe that golf has had any particular bearing on the attendance. Give the fans a race such as the National League has on tap or let them know the Yankees, with Ruth and Gehrig going neck-and-neck in the Home Run Derby, are the attraction, and you pack 'em in.

HUSKY SOPHOMORES ARRIVE IN MADISON

Parks and McKaskle, 200-pound Linemen, Report Anxious for Battle

Madison — Two strapping youth from Dixie land wandered into the Badger football camp Sunday, anxious and ready to convince some of Glenn Thistlethwaite's veteran linemen that southern gentlemen are not always too gentlemanly. This pair of southerners, John Parks and Herman McKaskle, are sophomores at Wisconsin and were teammates on the Frosh squad a year ago.

Parks is a native of Muskogee, Oklahoma and McKaskle hails from England, Arkansas. Both of these chaps enrolled at Wisconsin last fall—strangers—but before many weeks found themselves battling the Cardinal Varsity eleven side by side. Parks is a guard and McKaskle a tackle, and both men earned steady employment with the yearlings.

Coach Thistlethwaite has had little chance to size up these recruit forwards from the south. Parks was reigning in the Freshmen's eight-o'clock drill the spring while his mate was recovering from a broken leg received in the late winter. As a consequence they were not working in the spring grid drills.

BELOIT GRID MENTOR HAPPY AT PROSPECTS

Beloit —(AP)—Roy Bohler, athletic director at Beloit college, is optimistic over fall football prospects. Although there are but seven of last year's letter men returning, there seems prospect for some good material to be developed from last year's frosh squad and from men who have been in other athletics, but never before in football.

The veterans who will be back on the field September 15 for the first practice, are Morton Balch, full-back; Robert Brodin, half-back; Stewart Lawrence, quarter-back; "Barney" Lourim, end; "Bud" Laabs, guard; Charles Nieman, guard; and Walter Rasinske, tackle.

JACK DEMPSEY STARTS SECRET WORK AT NIGHT

Lincoln Field, Crete, Ill.—(AP)—Amid secrecy so strict that not even newspapermen will be allowed to watch workouts, Jack Dempsey will complete training for his battle to win back the heavyweight crown from Gene Tunney at night and under the glare of ring lamps similar to those that will light Soldier field, Sept. 22.

ELK BOWLING LEAGUE TO START ON OCT. 1

The Elk Bowling League for 1927-28 will start about Oct. 1, according to reports from the Elk allies. All those desiring to join the league have been requested to register at the club.

dance is largely measured by the attraction offered. Fans will flock to the park to see the slugging Yanks in action, whereas the tailend Boston Red Sox are seldom bothered by ground rules.

True, baseball has lost some fans who for years followed the game because they find golf a sport that offers not only a chance to be out in the open but a little exercise in addition.

I would say that for every fan lost to baseball because of golf, two have come up to take the place of the deserter who has become inoculated with the golf germ.

Our parks of today, in most instances, are twice as big as they were ten years ago. Yet any time a worth-while attraction is offered or the race for the pennant is a hot one, the standing-room-only sign is usually out early.

Therefore, I would say, the influence of golf on baseball as far as the crowds are concerned is entirely negative. At least, as yet, I do not believe golf has asserted itself as a danger to the financial end of baseball.

However, I do believe that golf has already had a very definite influence on the mediocre standard of baseball now prevalent in the majors.

I am not one of those old-timers who insist the modern game doesn't compare with the brand of twenty years ago. Still I am positive that on the whole it isn't nearly as good.

Golf statisticians tell me that there are in the United States more than 400,000 caddies during the summer months. These caddies are drawn from the ranks of the boys who used to spend their spare time becoming proficient in the art of baseball.

Any youngster fond of baseball as a kid usually carries through life his love for the game. However, take away close to a half million boys from playing baseball each summer and it is only natural to assume that many a future Cobb or Johnson is lost, because golf has a stronger appeal.

A good caddy can earn anywhere from $2 to $5 per day, depending to a certain extent on the liberality of the player for whom he is caddying. There you have another lure sandlot baseball lacks, compensation for effort.

GENE FOLLOWS JACK; HAS SECRET WORKOUT

Lake Villa, Ill.—(AP)—Secret training, hidden even from Manager Billy Gibson and newspaper men, is Gene Tunney's program from Monday on for the remaining 10 days preparation to defend his heavyweight championship.

"I have my own ideas of training," said Tunney. "There are certain punches I want to perfect and there is no use letting the entire world know the style of attack I am going to use in the Dempsey fight. I made a study of Dempsey when he defeated Jack Sharkey and I intend to fight him according to the deductions I have made after seeing that fight."

"Then there are other things I want to do in private, aside from boxing. I have less than two weeks before the fight and I intend to put in a strenuous week and take things easy for the last few days before the contest."

The champion said the secret workout was a part of his training which he had followed for several years.

MANAGER CREDITED WITH WINNING FLAG

Wichita Falls Honors Carl Williams as Spudgers Cop in Texas

Wichita Falls—Seven different managers of Texas League clubs looked over the Wichita Falls team early this year and chuckled at the popular (in Wichita Falls) belief that the Spudgers would win the pennant.

Despite the fact that the Spudgers got away to a lead as handsome as that of the New York Yankees in their league, these rival managers continued to chuckle.

"Worried about 'em? Certainly not!" they told each other. "They'll blow up before long."

You see, the Spudgers have been in the pennant race every year for the past three years, only to blow up at some time or other. And these seven rival managers figured it would happen again.

But they never counted Carl Williams, of the Wichita Falls club, in their thoughts.

To Williams, a big husky country boy, goes credit for the Wichita Falls team being "in" and waiting for New Orleans and Birmingham to settle their battle so the Spudgers can know the team they'll meet in the annual Dixie series.

Williams was appointed manager of the club in mid-season of 1926. Fans thought it only a make-shift agreement. But he got the job this spring and immediately started to build.

He finally settled his pitching problems, with the aid of veteran Pete Lapan, by starting out with Payne, Steengraffe, former big leaguer, Kieffer, Cobb, Estell, Williams and Fussell. The latter, a left-hander, is the star of the staff with more than 20 wins to his credit.

The Spudgers started the season off by winning twelve in a row. Today they are approximately that many games ahead of Houston, their nearest rival, and the team has been counted "in" by their rivals many weeks ago.

They simply refused to crack. When Williams needed a bit more batting punch in his outfield, he got hold of Griffin from Denver.

When Johnny Jann, his rookie shortstop, was out for several weeks, he put Rabbit Denio at his position. No matter what went wrong, Williams was right there with a cure for it. But, to be frank, nothing much went wrong.

The Texas club is watching the Southern League race with interest, but have a hunch, regardless of whether New Orleans or Birmingham (who are switching top position in the standing almost every day) wins it, they'll be able to breeze through for the championship of Dixie.

BOOK LARNIN' "Is he dumb?" "Dumb? Say, he bought a Webster's Collegiate Dictionary to learn to talk like a fraternity man."

CHAPMAN, BASS CLASH IN FEATHER TITLE GO

Philadelphia—(AP)—Ed Chapman of Boston and Benny Bass of this city meet in a ten round bout at the municipal stadium Monday night for the world's featherweight championship. The title may pass by decision.

The 128-pound throne has not had an occupant since Lou (Lid) Kaplan abdicated nearly two years ago because he could no longer make the weight limit.

Both Chapman, and Bass concentrated on the left hook at their training camps and it has always been one of the most effective blows of each of the fighters.

Bass is a 7 to 5 favorite. This will be their second meeting. Bass won in New York last January on a foul in the first round.

BREWS LOSE TO SAINTS BUT BLUES ALSO DROP

St. Paul — Herbert Tecumseh McCauley plunked his dangling hulk on the right of way to the Association pennant Sunday afternoon and the Brewer Express was derailed just outside the city limits. The big right hander heaved the most artistic game that the Lels have faced this season, and were very lucky indeed to get two runs while the Apostles were getting four.

Inning after inning the former Yankee side wheeled his dipping shoots past the Brewer bats and until the eighth only one scratch hit had been coined. That isn't very many, anyway you stop to figure it out. One legitimate wallop, by Gerken in the eighth and two more in field "squibs" avoided a shutout.

Kansas City lost to Minneapolis, 6-4.
